

You asked Tana Poppino....We got the answers..

August 3, 2010 by runbikeride

A few weeks ago we announced on our Facebook page we would pick 2 questions and have them answered by NFR Qualifer Tana Poppino. Here is question #1:

What advice would you give to someone who is looking to enter the WPRA ranks and head down the professional rodeo trail?

My advice to anyone looking to go down the road is, "you better get your big girl panties on," cause these girls don't cut you no slack! I love what I do and I'm very blessed to get to do it, but it is a lot more work than most people will ever know. You have to learn to be your own truck driver, navigator, mechanic, vet, trainer, jockey and waterboy.

Tana Poppino answers your questions..
August 6, 2010 by runbikeride

One of our Facebook fans asked.....

Tana, what do you look for in a prospect?

When I'm looking for a prospect, I look for an athlete, a horse that is quick on their feet and very fluid. I like a good looking horse, but other than that it's always wait and see. We try to find what each horse likes to do and teach them to excel. It's important that they love whatever it is they do, whether it's barrels or roping.